Disclaimer: The data on these maps represents the existing quality and quantity of natural and cultural assets on properties at this time. Data is for planning purposes only and may be used to inform zoning, master plans, comprehensive plan updates, open space, and cultural and natural asset plans and other plans. It does not make any assumptions about whether or not property will be developed. Recommendations and strategies using data from this and future maps will be developed over the next year.

Data compiled by GIC from multiple sources including county and state public resources, and measurable ecosystems.
